

CAROL CALKOEN

A second-generation survivor Carol has made enormous contributions to the Holocaust Centre since its inception. Working on the ground-breaking work first undertaken by her parents Hanka & George Pressburg, who were the inspiration for the Centre, Carol was on the Centre's founding board.

She has served in many vital capacities for the Centre, but her work in education as education director and educator have been pivotal and provided the base for the Centre to grow these programmes.

Carol received an award for her outstanding service to the Centre from the Governor General in 2017. We add to that award with this recognition of exceptional service to our organisation.
